PREAMBLE

The quality of a lived experience of any person in an area depends on the visual, environmental, social and safety characteristics of that place. Tourism and economic development demand that visitors be provided with knowledge, directions and information of key sights and places that provide necessary services. This requires that adequate information on directions to places of interest be displayed appropriately, be easy to use and not detract from the safety of users and the aesthetics of the environment.

Control and management of outdoor advertisements, marketing products and other visual media is key to the sustainability of the environment, cleanliness, legal compliance and safety of residents and businesses. Municipalities are tasked with the function of managing outdoor advertisements, billboards and other media, to ensure that targeted users are protected always.

SCHEDULE B: CLASSES (TYPES) OF SIGNS AND DISPLAY PROCEDURES

CLASS 1: BILLBOARDS

This class consists of free-standing advertising structures which have a very high visual and traffic safety impact owing to their sheer size and proximity to higher order roads. Artistically designed billboard structures may make a more positive contribution to the visual environment. The main function of this class is to advertise non-locality-bound products, activities and services.

Examples:

Gantry billboards

Large billboards

Medium billboards

Small billboards

CLASS 2: SIGNS ON BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Signs in this class are attached to or painted on buildings which are used or partly used for commercial, office, industrial or entertainment purposes with only one or two possible exceptions. Also included in this class are signs attached to larger structures not primarily erected for displaying advertisements such as pylons, towers and bridges. The aesthetic and traffic safety impact of these signs vary from high to relatively low.

Examples:

Sky signs; Roof signs; Wall signs; Signs and Murals painted on walls and roofs; Signs incorporated in the fabric of the building; Projecting signs; Veranda, Balcony and Under Awning signs; Advertisements on Towers, Bridges and Pylons

CLASS 3: SIGNS ON PREMISES AND MISCELLANEOUS SIGNS

Signs in this class consist mainly of free-standing, locality-bound, on-premises signs and advertising structures directly linked to enterprises, residential functions or community services in the urban, rural and natural environments. Closely associated with these free-standing signs is a variety of locality bound signs which may be attached to non-advertising structures such as boundary walls, fences and entrance gates; residential and community-oriented buildings.

Most signs in Class 3 are relatively small in size with combination or stack sign structures at shopping centres and industrial estates the only exception in this regard. The main impact of signs in this class can be attributed to unattractive structures and a tendency to proliferate and to encroach on the road.

On-Premises Business signs in Urban Areas

Miscellaneous Signs for Urban Residential Oriented Land Use and Community Services

Signs for Agricultural and Related Land Use in Rural and Natural Areas

CLASS 4: SIGNS FOR PEDESTRIAN ENVIRONMENTS AND STREET-SCAPING

Signs in this class are limited exclusively to pedestrian environments with only a few exceptions. Due to a more intimate advertising environment and the involvement of street and advertising furniture this class lends itself to artistic expression and an enhancement of local character or sense of place.

Examples:

Street furniture and large posters

Forecourt signs

CLASS 5: SIGNS FOR THE TOURIST AND TRAVELLER

This class includes a variety of signs aimed at the tourist and traveller – from signs at filling stations to information panels at tourist attractions. Apart from providing valuable information to the tourist and traveller some of these signs may also contribute to local character if treated correctly. Signs in this class differ in size and impact from huge stack signs identifying roadside service areas to small advertisements on petrol pumps or identification signs indicating the name of tourist attractions.

Examples:

Service facility signs

Road Traffic Project signs

Tourism Information signs

Gateway signs

CLASS 6: MOBILE SIGNS

This class contains signs attached to vehicles on land, water and in the air. Also included are signs carried by pedestrians for the purpose of advertising. It may be assumed that mobile signs will be concentrated mainly in urban areas but being mobile they may also appear in other landscape types. The aesthetic impact of mobile signs may vary from high to low. Owing to their highly mobile nature these signs may be very difficult to control and may have a relatively high impact on traffic safety. Although certain mobile signs lend themselves to artistic expression these signs have a low necessity value in general, seen from a non-advertising or practical point of view.

Examples:

Vehicular Advertising

Advertising Trailers & Self-Propelled Advertising Vehicles

Aerial signs

‘Walking’ Sandwich Boards & Other Portable Notices

CLASS 7: TEMPORARY SIGNS

This class permits a wide variety of signs and advertisements of which temporariness can be seen as a dominant characteristic. For the purpose of this classification 'temporariness' is defined by means of the following criteria;

- 1) Duration of continuous 'display' of advertising structure: Most sign types in this class are classified as temporary in terms of the relatively short uninterrupted time period during which advertising structures are allowed on specific sites irrespective of the fact that advertising contents displayed on such structures may be changed during these periods. The following two display periods are used as a benchmark for permanence:
 - a) A period of 5 years
 - b) The lifespan of an enterprise to which a sign is referring.

The temporary nature of signs classified according to this criterion may vary from

- Construction Site Advertisements which are limited to the construction period of specific building projects, to
- Show House Signs which are limited to show days/weekends.

Temporariness in relation to related signs: Although signs such as temporary window signs (indicating a promotion, 'sale', etc.) may actually be affixed to a permanent structure such as a shop window, they are still seen as temporary in relation to similar signs (name and nature of shop, etc.) on the same window or other structural elements of the building – both in terms of the display period or material used for the sign.

Due to a large variation in the nature of signs in this class both the visual and traffic safety impacts of these signs also tend to differ to a large extent. In certain cases, signs which may also be seen as temporary in nature, such as aerial signs, have been classified under another sign class due to a more dominant characteristic such as mobility.

Examples:

Construction Site Advertisements; Project Boards; Signs for Sporting Events, Festivals & Exhibitions; Estate Agents' Boards; Auction Signs; Lamppost Advertising; Handbills, Leaflets and Pamphlets; Temporary Window Signs

CLASS 8: OTHER SIGNS

This sign class makes provision for signs which cannot be classified under any of the other main sign classes.

Examples:

Security Signs

Public service and other information signs

Electoral posters

Election material shall be erected in accordance with the provisions of the applicable legislation that rules and regulates elections

Electoral posters should not be subject to a specific levy

Deposit should be determined for these electoral post

If the electoral posters are not removed by political parties within 14 days from the date of elections, such deposit should not be refunded
