GLOSSARY OF TERMS, definitions and Abbreviations used in the context of this Policy document

Fire Brigade Services Reservist:

A Fire Brigade Services Reservist in the context of this policy document is understood as a citizen or member of the community who voluntarily (i.e. as a volunteer), provides service/s through performing fire and emergency assignments aimed at preventing fire without expecting or demanding payment in return.

The nature of service/s rendered by a volunteer may also impact on the conditions under which such voluntary work is offered, including incentives, (e.g. grocery vouchers, air-time vouchers, stipends etc.) if any, that may be provided.
POLICY FRAMEWORK FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF A FIRE BRIGADE SERVICES RESERVIST PROGRAMME (RUSTENBURG)

1. PREAMBLE

Fire Brigade Services Reservists programme as a concept focuses on mobilizing of communities and assisting coordination of fire prevention and emergency activities.

The Mass Mobilization Programme is in essence in support of all existing frameworks that:

- Recognize the importance of communities as sources of information in a relationship between municipality and the community.
- Acknowledge the effectiveness of actively involved communities that share creation of a fire-free environment.
- Appreciate existing efforts by communities through mobilizing and offering volunteer services in various methods to ensure fire safety of communities and a better quality of life.
- Embrace consultations with various entities in matters of voluntary community awareness including leveraging funding of any kind as part of incentives for services where possible.

There is a need to:

- Coordinate between fire and emergency department, Municipal Ward Structures and the district structures through activities that include fire prevention, awareness, and disaster risk assessment around strategic areas prioritized by the municipality.
- Market and communicate issues of fire and emergency and maximally coordinate through information sharing on general safety tips including fire safety about causes of fire which may affect their daily life routine.
- Coordinate resources towards a common purpose.

There is also a need to align fire prevention efforts by seriously considering initiatives of all other groups of society that strive to contribute to the fire prevention and safety through various means that may involve providing information to relevant authorities for purposes of promoting safety.

The Fire Brigade Services Reservist programme is intended to observe basic principles of the National Expanded Public Works Programme (EPWP) that involve among others ensuring skills training and temporary job creation.

2. PURPOSE OF THIS POLICY FRAMEWORK

The purpose of this policy framework is to enable the Directorate Public Safety to implement a Fire Brigade Services Reservist Programme through utilization of a set of guidelines as a point of reference.

2.1 Objective

The Fire Brigade Services Reservist policy framework seeks to promote efforts of citizen groups, the Municipality, the Fire and Emergency Department as far as fire prevention in communities is concerned. It is therefore intended to assist the municipality to decrease fire incidents so as to ensure that communities are safer. The focus will in the main be those parts of the municipality within Municipal boundaries identified as experiencing the most prevalent fires and other disasters.
2.2 Rationale for the programme

The following have been identified as factors influencing the need for the programme (i.e. Rationale):

2.2.1 To encourage the general public (i.e. individuals or any other organized community structure/s) involved in fire prevention to raise their participation to a higher level so as to accommodate the demands of fire safety.

2.2.2 To assist the municipality to decrease fire incidents to make sure that the communities in the wards are safer.

2.2.3 To raise the levels of fire safety within communities with the presence of Fire Brigade Services Reservist functioning as the eyes and ears of the Fire Department.

2.2.4 To establish a data-base of Fire Brigade Services Reservists in various wards.

3. LEGISLATIVE AND OTHER POLICY FRAMEWORKS

The following are frameworks that guide the application of the policy:

A Legislative Framework that supersedes all legislations and policies with principles, values and imperatives that form the basis of legislation that have a bearing on the provision of safety and security.

3.2 The Fire Brigade Services Act, No 99 of 1987 and its amendments

A piece of legislation that directs legal and operational requirements of the fire fighting within South Africa.

3.3 The Disaster management Act, No 57 of 2002

A legal framework that guides the establishment of an integrated and co-ordinated disaster risk management focusing on prevention or reduction of the risk of disaster, mitigating the severity of disasters, emergency preparedness, rapid and effective response to disaster and post-disaster recovery.

3.4 The Fire Prevention Strategy

Strategic priorities to deal with fire fighting and disaster management; Role & responsibilities of various role-players in the advisory committee; the role of the District within the constitutional framework.

3.5 Expanded Public Works Framework

A guiding document that gives direction to operations of the EPWP programme regarding implementation.

3.6 Code of Conduct: A set of rules describing expected behavior or proper practices by a person.

4. SCOPE OF THE POLICY FRAMEWORK

This policy covers aspects in the Department’s effort to mobilize communities against fire:
4.1 Provides guidance regarding what is expected of a Fire Brigade Services Reservist recruited directly by the Municipality or through a recognized institution/organization.

4.2 Outline a working relationship among Fire Brigade Services Reservist and those wards through which the voluntary service/s are being rendered.

4.3 Provides guidance on resources and other material support provided to Fire Brigade Services Reservists including the injury and or death policy cover.

5. PRINCIPLES GUIDING PARTICIPATION AS A FIRE BRIGADE SERVICES RESERVIST

Within the definition of Fire Brigade Services Reservist as described above, the following principles apply:

5.1 Participation in a group as a member is voluntary.

5.2 Voluntary work including fire fighting and prevention is non-remunerative.

5.3 Volunteering is always a matter of choice and participation is not to be imposed.

5.4 Volunteering as a Fire Brigade Services Reservist within a group that accounts to the Municipality is one legitimate way in which a community member can actively participate in fire prevention activities with acceptable and recognised competency training.

5.5 Volunteering as a Fire Brigade Services Reservist is not a substitute for paid work.
